Policy

Original Effective Date: 09/01/2014

When benefits allow, Kaiser Permanente will reimburse licensed ambulance companies for emergency transport services to the nearest facility that can accommodate the member's medical treatment needs. Kaiser Permanente will also reimburse medically necessary inter-facility transports by ambulance. Cabulance services may be reimbursed when pre-authorization is obtained from the health plan, this applies to both international and regional transport within the United States.

Kaiser Permanente does not reimburse ambulance costs to transport additional passengers.

Billing/Coding Guidelines

All claims must be billed according to Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) guidelines

Policy Definitions

Cabulance - A vehicle operated by a driver who is trained in first aid only. It is limited to transporting patients who can either sit on the cabulance bench seat or in a secured wheelchair. A cabulance does not have equipment or personnel on board for attending to the patient during transport, nor does it have facilities for the patient to lie down.

Ambulance Services - Ambulance transport is NOT covered merely as a convenient transportation service when a patient can be transported SAFELY by any other vehicle. Medically appropriate ambulance transportation is a covered service regardless of the State or region in which it is rendered. Coverage is provided for emergency transport and interfacility transfers.

Inter-Facility Transports - Transport from an acute care hospital bed to another facility for diagnostic evaluation or treatment and return to inpatient status. This does not include transports to and from skilled nursing facilities.

Air Ambulance Services - KPWA will approve claims only if the beneficiary's medical condition is such that transportation by either basic or advanced life support ground ambulance is not appropriate.

Nearest Facility - The nearest facility is one that:

- can provide the appropriate level of care, and;
- has capacity at the time of the transfer, and;
- was a reasonable destination considering conditions at the destination site, weather along the route and other variables.

Calculation of distance:

- Air – Nearest facility will be calculated as the most direct path between two points “as the crow flies” unless the most common flight path along this route varies from this description.
- Ground – Nearest facility will be calculated as the most direct path between origination point and facility, using common routes.
