Because viral remnants can persist and be found on the PCR test, patients actually MAY continue to test positive for up to a month after having had an infection and recovered, even though the patient is no longer infectious and does not create a risk of exposure to others.
Because viral remnants can persist and be found on the PCR test, patients actually MAY continue to test positive for up to a month after having had an infection and recovered, even though the patient is no longer infectious and does not create a risk of exposure to others.

NOTE:  Tuesday Surgeries for Overlake will be tested by KPWA to maintain compliance with Overlake’s 48-hour testing window. See surgery scheduling resource grid.

Testing to be Completed by KPWA
- KP Washington ASC
- KP Washington SPU
- Capitol Hill / Central Hospital Surgery
- Providence St. Peter Hospital (Olympia)
- Silverdale ASC

Testing to be Completed by Partner Hospital per Facility Protocols
- Overlake Hospital
- Swedish (First Hill and Cherry Hill Campuses)
- CHI / Franciscan – St Joseph Hospital (Tacoma)